

Cement Tiles Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

As a cement tile manufacturer, we understand that there are many questions you may have about our products. In this article, we will be answering some of the most frequently asked questions about cement tiles.

What are cement tiles made of?

Cement tiles are made of a mixture of cement, sand, and pigment, which are then molded into shape and cured under pressure. The top layer of the tile is made of colored cement, while the bottom layer is made of a mixture of cement and sand.

How durable are cement tiles?

Cement tiles are extremely durable and can last for decades when properly maintained. They are resistant to water, fire, and stains, making them ideal for use in high-traffic areas such as kitchens, bathrooms, and entryways.

Can cement tiles be used outdoors?

Yes, cement tiles can be used outdoors. However, they should be sealed properly to protect them from moisture and other environmental factors. Additionally, they should be installed on a level surface to prevent cracking.

Are cement tiles easy to install?

Cement tiles can be a bit more challenging to install than traditional ceramic tiles due to their weight and thickness. However, with the proper tools and techniques, they can be installed by a professional installer or a DIY enthusiast.

Do cement tiles require special maintenance?

Cement tiles require some special maintenance to keep them looking their best. They should be sealed periodically to protect them from stains and moisture. Additionally, they should be cleaned with a pH-neutral cleaner to prevent damage to the surface.

Are cement tiles eco-friendly?

Cement tiles are an eco-friendly option for flooring as they are made of natural materials and do not require high energy consumption to manufacture. Additionally, they can be recycled at the end of their life cycle.

What design options are available for cement tiles?

Cement tiles are available in a wide range of designs and colors, from traditional to modern. They can be customized to meet specific design requirements and can be used to create unique patterns and designs.

Cement tiles are a versatile and durable option for flooring and can be used in a variety of settings. With proper maintenance and installation, they can last for decades, making them a cost-effective choice for homeowners and businesses alike.

Can cement tiles be installed in Wood subfloor?

Yes!!! Cement tiles can be installed in wood subfloors, be sure that your wood surface is hard and not flexible and use a cement backer board.

Can cement tiles be used in Backsplashes?

Yes!!! Cement tiles can be used in kitchen backsplashes, cement tiles just need to be sealed to avoid absorption of any grease splatters, you can use first a penetrating sealer and then have an acrylic sealer to get a thin film on the surface of the tiles, that can be cleaned with a regular soap and water.

Can cement tiles be used in freezing weather?

Yes!!! Cement tiles can be used in freezing weather, Original Mission Tiles are compact avoiding water absorption even so, we recommend to sealed cement tiles and grout to avoid any water absorption, so there is not any expansion.

Can cement tiles be used with heating systems?

Yes!!! Heating systems can be used with cement tiles, cement tiles are a perfect material to conduct heat, installation will be done as with any other tiles.

Can cement tiles be installed in Bathrooms or water places?

Yes!!! Cement tiles can be installed in bathrooms and showers, in floors and walls, cement tiles and grout will need to be sealed to make them 100% waterproof and avoid any damp.

Is there a difference between cement tiles?

Yes!!! There is a huge difference, quality control and manufacturing process are those which makes the difference, Original Mission Tile will offer the best quality cement tiles as we select piece by piece, taking care of color consistency, design definition & thickness.

Are cement tiles LEED certified?

LEED Certification just apply to the building, but by using cement tiles your project can get some points, because cement tiles are handmade, 100% recyclable, not fired and save energy by been fresh in hot heather.

Are cement tiles ecologically friendly with environment?

Yes!!! Cement tiles are ecologically friendly, all materials are mineral and process don't use fire, cement tiles are cured by using recycled water.